Veterans Fountain To Be Dedicated

Placentia's opulent veterans fountain, a quarter of a million dollar gift to the citizens of the city from Mrs. Angeline Backs and the late Edward Backs, will be dedicated Sunday, September 7, "In Memory of Those Who Served Their Country With Courage and Love."

The dedication will begin at 2 p.m. at the fountain site, Chapman and Walnut Avenues, the southwest corner of Kraemer Memorial Park.

A special program for the occasion will include music by the 11th Naval District Band, under the direction of Sr. Chief William Fitzgerald. Master of Ceremonies will by Edwin T. Powell, Placentia City Administrator.

A United States flag will be presented by congressman Charles Wiggins; a state flag by Assemblyman Bruce Nestande and the Placentia All American flag by Supervisor Chairman Ralph Diedrich. A joint military services color guard will consist of representatives from the army, air force, marines and navy.

Mayor Robert Lyons will introduce guests and the dedication address will be delivered by former Placentia city councilman Richard A. Demmer, a colonel in the U.S. Air Force.

Architect Arthur Barton will talk about the construction of the elaborate fountain and Mrs. Angeline Backs will make a presentation of the Memorial Plaque assisted by Mayor Lyons.

Refreshments also will be served by the American Legion Auxiliary Post #277 in the Scout House north of the fountain grounds.

Three tiers of the unique fountain, rise from a 32-foot in diameter base to hold four dolphins, which are the work of sculptor John Edward Svenson, who designed the fountain. The dolphins were cast in Oslo, Norway.

Other artisans whose skills contributed to the fountain are Arthur Barton, Architect and general contractor Paul Foss, who supervised all of the construction including the intricate bush-hammering of the concrete to give an artistic texture.

Other bronze figures on two levels of the fountain are sea horses, starfish and sunfish and other sea creatures, which were cast in the United States.

The Memorial Fountain is the focal point of a paved and planted courtyard with a backdrop of a 30-foot-long semi-circular wall with seating to provide a restful view of the fountain. This wall carries the dedicatory inscription in bronze. A plaque, which will be presented Sunday reads "To the People of Placentia-Angeline and Edward Backs."

A specially lighted flagpole on the grounds will permit the flag to fly day and night and a plaque at the base of the flagpole recognizes the site as the former location of the American Legion Post No. 277. Members of the post, one of the city's oldest organizations, will be attending the dedication ceremony in uniform.

The design of the water flow of the fountain and the lighting were carefully planned to effect the simplicity of a natural flow of water, foaming around the swimming dolphins and evenly sheeting over the pool walls into the quiet pond at the bottom.

PLACENTIA'S VETERANS MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN will be dedicated Sunday, to all of those who have served their country. The eye-catching structure is the gift of Mrs. Angeline Backs and the late Edward Backs. The dedication ceremonies will begin at 2 p.m.

Bicentennial Medallions For Sale Soon

The Placentia City Council Tuesday night, approved an expenditure of $3,950 to purchase 5,000 bronze medallions to be sold to the public as mementos of Placentia's Bicentennial celebration.

The heavy metal pieces will be engraved with the bicentennial seal on one side and the official seal of Placentia on the other. The medallions will sell to the public for $3 each.

Opening date of the sale is expected to be at Placentia's 11th annual Heritage Festival Days celebration on the final day at the Picnic in The Park at Kraemer Park, following the annual Jaycee parade.

Sale of the medallions also is expected to finance other bicentennial activities, including the celebration of Placentia's 50th birthday in 1976.

The medallions are expected to be sold also through clubs, organizations and business firms and to collectors throughout the United States.

Selling Surplus Is Not Simple

Selling the former City Hall Annex, on the west side of Bradford Avenue, with an attractive price tag on it of $36,500, just isn't going to be easy, Placentia City Council members discovered last week.

The building and its mate across the street, the former City Hall, have been on the market since January, 1975. But there has been no great rush of buyers to acquire the Annex.

In fact, the city council last Tuesday night got its first real offer. There were a few problems with that, too, however. The offered price apparently was too low to be acceptable...the prospective buyer wanted the city to hold the papers...and at 9 per cent interest.

At one point the council decided to continue the matter and find a solution at a later date but that was thwarted when city Purchasing Agent Jim Park when asked when the prospective purchaser wanted an answer replied, "tomorrow."

To further confuse everyone, at least two realtors, Jack and Bonnie Scarpa were in the audience and Councilman Robert Langer noted: "I don't think it would be

Giant Step Toward County Fire

A firefighting package that would provide Placentia citizens the use of an aerial ladder truck at all structure fires and station the paramedics within the city limits...at a reportedly lower cost than the Placentia Fire Department now costs, squeaked by city council Tuesday night by one vote.

The vote authorized city participation in a contract with the County of Orange "for providing for the furnishing of fire protection services to the city."

Councilmen Jack Gomez and Robert Langer opposed the resolution for a variety of reasons. Councilman Gomez asked for something in writing from the Local Fire Fighters Union #2147 (AFL-CIO) legal counsel that they would not disrupt the merger. Councilman Langer wanted a more detailed accounting of all the expenses and costs involved "and what the figure would be on the bottom line." Langer also was concerned about fire prevention services.

The meeting, which had been called for the small conference room in City Hall was quickly moved to the meeting room in the new library when most of Placentia's firemen and their wives and members of the public appeared. The matter was not a public hearing and there were few speakers from the floor.

Also attending was Ray Rhoads, executive assistant for Orange County Board of Supervisors Chairman Ralph Diedrich. Rhoads is overseeing negotiations from the county side.

At the close of a two-hour session of intra-council debate, Mayor Robert Lyons voted yes on the intention to pursue a contract for his stated reasons.

"Right now if we have a structural fire in the city of Placentia, if we don't go outside our city limits, we get six men responding to a call. Under the set up proposed by the county, for less money than we're paying now, we will have 11 people responding to the same fire.

"Right now, any portion of our city, south of Madison, is outside the five minute response area of paramedics stationed at #10 (Yorba Linda). By moving them into Station 2 (Placentia), we can have our entire city covered without loss of service to Yorba Linda.

"At less cost to the citizens, it adds stability to our fire department that now guarantees for 21 months at a fixed price, something we can't do with our own fire department.

"And I acknowledge the need for bottom line costs and I acknowledge the need for written statements from the union. These things can be developed during the time of the negotiations with the county.

"I want to get this thing moving. We've been advised that it takes 30 to 60 days."

County figures released during the prenegotiations give the cost of contracting with the county at $646,019 a year. The 21-month package would amount to $1,110,062 including nine months of service at $439,043 and a year at $646,019. An additional $25,000 would be owed present firemen for vacations and other benefits.

The current costs of operating the city-owned fire department were not discussed but the department budgeted roughly at $750,000 including paramedics at $61,000 a year.

Present county plans would be to use Placentia's two fire stations and purchase a new trailer, at around $25,000 for the back of Station 1 on Bradford Aenue. The latter could possible be paid off by the city of Placentia and would then become city property.

The county service level calls for a fourman engine company at Station 1 and at Station 2 on Valenica Avenue would be quartered a 3-man engine crew, the paramedics team and the aerial truck and crew.

Ray Rhoads, Supervisor Diedrich's assistant and a Yorba Linda resident, explained: "A special tailor-made fire department could not be made for Placentia...Some of these questions are not very relevant, as to whether we take this truck out or put this truck back in. We have come up with a figure which we think is the best possible figure.

"We're not in the business of running a fire business, to sell to cities for profit. We try to break even. If a house is on fire, a certain level of service turns up. If you have a big arson here in town, you have the whole arson squad. When you have a system that is backed over the entire county with all that equipment, you have more people rolling on every fire and more equipment."

Councilman Gomez emphasized: "I would like to see something in writing from the attorney for the union that says 'Go ahead and do it'. I don't want to be put in the position where we make a decision and then the union comes back and says, 'Wait a minute, We have an agreement with you.'"

Also discussed was the issue of absorbing all of the current Placentia fire personnel into the county system.

Rhoads said that the county would have a problem finding a place for "the number of people that you have and at the ranks that they hold. We have to spread them through the system.

"Now to be completely candid, we have a fire chief for instance and he won't like it if we have another one. So he is going to have to come over as something beside a fire chief."

Rhoades explained that although Placentia would have the services fo fire prevention and arson, another area of questioning, personnel in these departments would not be stationed in Placentia on a 24-hour-a-day basis but would be available. Boundary dropping with the city of Anaheim also will be pursued, he reported in answer to council queries.

Councilman Langer submitted several pages of questions for which he had requested answers including disposition of personnel. Answers included that the county would accept all personnel and all would become California State Forestry Service employees with the exception of Fire Chief James Sims, Batallion Chief Mike Chenard and the department secretary, all of whom would be county employees, if they choose to join the county.

Another subject of concern was that the city would probably no longer have a Fire Reserve Program. Program.

Still to be discussed by the council is Placentia Fire Department equipment including fire trucks and automobiles. The county expressed interest in three of the pumpers but not in two others.

Expected to be considered is the possibility of leasing of the equipment rather than outright sale, in the event the city might change its mind after 21 months and wish to reestablish its own fire department again.

Councilman Langer stated: "I would be in favor of just leasing to the county, for this reason that maybe 21 months from now, we will have a brand new council and I think they should have the prerogative of determining what kind of service we are receiving from the county and whether they want to continue on with it or whether they want to start up their own new fire department. And fire trucks cost a lot of money, so I would be in favor of holding on to them for at least 21 months."

SUMMER SUN casts shadows over the refreshing waters of Carbon Canyon Lake opened last week to the public along with a 50-acre expanse of trees, hills, grass, recreation and eating areas. A large crowd appeared at the dedication with a number of children who immediately took advantage of the day and opportunity. Radio controlled sailing ships create an attractive panorama.

Apartment Squabble Goes To Court

A writ of mandate has been granted by the Superior Court in Santa Ana directing the city of Placentia to show cause why Fredricks Construction Company of Anaheim may not build high density apartments on 12½ acres of property west of Rose Drive and north of Wabash Avenue, above the Imperial Highway.

The city must answer the demand by the hearing date of September 19, Charles Post III, City Attorney said this week.

the controversy has rankled out of court for almost a year since Fredricks set about to build a 23-unit-to-the acre develoment in the midst of rural estate properties which border it in Placentia, Yorba Linda, Brea and Orange County.

Homeowners immediately organized to stop the project on acreage which had been annexed to the city of Placentia only a few months before and on which a tenative single family residential zoning had been indicated.

Soon afterwards the Placentia

Attractive Park Ready To Use

A 95-acre package of pleasure was gift wrapped and delivered Thrusday as Carbon Canyon Regional Park opened its gates to an eagerly awaiting public.

Around 1,000 people turned out for the dedication ceremonies which also gave them a preview look at the vista of lake, trees, tennis courts, children's play grounds, picnic kiosks, a mile and a half of winding bike trails and room to radio fly model planes and to sail model boats. And yards and yards of green stuff.

The park is located less than two miles from Imperial Highway and Valencia Avenue, streets easily recognized in Placentia and Yorba Linda and is available for 50 cents, the price of parking a car all day. Those on foot may enter free.

Groups of 50 persons or more are asked to make arrangements in advance because of the anticipated use of the park.

The dedication ceremonies Thursday combined nostalgia with intentional immediacy and brought pleasure to young and old.

The fascinating history of the area was explored evolving from the original occupants of the land, the Shoshonean Indians to the old Rancho San Juan Cajon de Santa Ana which belonged to Juan Pacifico Ontiveros on to Abel Stearns, a wealthy land baron who next purchased the land.

The part of Carbon Canyon that is Olinda, where the park lies, was a paradise for farmers and ranchers and cattle and sheep grazed in the park fields.

Then came oil and the newly formed Union Oil Company next bought the land. On the park lands were offices, houses, a school and a store. The next innovation was the building of Carbon Canyon Dam, to deter the flooding creek waters.

The park today offers other attractions. A ten-acre redwood grove occupies the south arm and trees planted by Milton Armstrong around his home, were saved and dedicated to his son, Major Jack Armstrong, a decorated fighter pilot during World War II, who was killed in a fighter plane crash attempting to better his own world speed record.

And for the youngsters who Thrusday lined the rim of the four-acre lake with fishing poles in hand, Orange County Supervisor Chairman Ralph Diedrich thoughtfully launched some impressive size catfish, which as quickly as possible, headed for the safer and deeper center of the pond.

A platform full of dignitaries were on hand to participate in the dedication, MCed by Diedrich's executive assistant, Ray Rhoads, Yorba Linda resident. Music was provided by the Santa Ana Winds.

Park hours are 7 a.m. to sunset, October 1 through March 31 and 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., April 1 through September 30.

This is the first phase of the park and additional acreage will be added to the current 50 acres, to completion around twice its present size.

Date Set For Citizens Of Year Award

President Rose Lembke this week advised clubs and organizations serving Placentia that the Chamber of Commerce has chosen November 8 for the Citizen of the Year Awards banquet.

Chamber Secretary, Phyllis Stambaugh, will serve as Chairman and application forms will be available around the middle of September.

The Chamber began this annual event in 1963 honoring one person for his or her outstanding service to the community during the previous year. George Koch was the first to be honored for 1962.

In 1971 it was decided to honor a man and a women each year. Mrs. Arnold (Jean) Pappas and Gualberto Valadez were chosen from the list of well-deserving candidates serving their community in 1970 to share honors at the annual banquet in 1971.

Asked to comment on the up-coming 12th Annual Citizen of the Year Awards, President Lembke stated, "We are very grateful to the clubs and organizations for their wonderful response and support shown the past few years, and hope this year the number of candidates nominated will be even greater!"

Ruben Jara Found Dead

Ruben Jara, 24, Placentia, was found dead Friday Afternoon at a residence at 4741 Palm, Yorba Linda.

Police had been summoned by Jara's mother, owner of Placentia's well known 301 Cafe on Santa Fe Street, who had been trying to contact him.

Cause of death was tenatively laid to a possible drug overdose.

Esperanza Opens $1.5 Phase

When students return to Esperanza High School in the Placentia Unified School District September 10, they will find almost 45,000 square feet of new classrooms to house their rapidly-growing student population.

The additions complete the district's newest high school, which opened last year at 1830 N. Kellogg Dr., Anaheim, and increase the student capacity by 50 per cent, according to Dr. John Parrish, principal.

The phase II construction amounts to $1.5 million, making the total cost of the campus approximately $6.35 million.

Included in the new 44,676 square-foot addition are 20 classrooms for history and English, a 400-seat performing arts facility which can be used as four separate classrooms, vocal and instrumental music rooms, facilities for drawing and painting and ceramics classes, an addition to the wrestling room and a room for girls' dance and gymnastics classes.

Official capacity of the campus is 1,850 students, but because of the flexibility available in class scheduling and the new facility, Esperanza will be able to accommodate almost 2,000 students, Parrish said.

Student enrollment this fall is expected to jump by more than 250 over last spring, making a fall population of approximately 1,550, Parrish noted.

Esperanza High School, which was designed by William Blurock & Partners of Corona del Mar, is built on a modified open classroom concept. All walls, except those in the science areas with built-in equipment, are movable to increase flexibility of the buildings.

POLES READY, youngsters watch expectantly as Chairman of the Board of Orange County Supervisors, Ralph Diedrich carefully empties another bucket of impressivly large catfish into the four acre lake at Carbon Canyon Regional Park. Eager young fishermen lined the banks.

Council Awards Homeowner Automatic Garage Door

City Staff's recommendation to eliminate a bottleneck on Placentia Avenue at Sunset Street by widening the major thoroughfare within the existing 7½ foot right of way, was accepted Tuesday night by the city council.

The governing body also after some controversy, voted to award property owner Marcelino Guerrero a radio controlled garage door in hopes of making exit and entrance to the garage off of Placentia Avenue a safer venture.

The widening would pare the property to the sidewalk which will be left intact. The setback of the garage, which has been 22 feet will now be reduced to 14, causing Guerrero to express concern for the safety of his family in using the structure.

Members of the council were divided on the issue with a first motion for widening without the garage appliance failing with three noes. A second motion to widen the street to two northbound lanes and add the garage door opener passed three to two with Mayor Robert Lyons and Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan dissenting.

Alternatives offered by staff included the accepted widening, purchasing the whole property to widen further or doing nothing. Guerrero had requested that the city build him a single garage beside the front of his house on Sunset Street, to eliminate the peril of backing into the busy street.

Ben Minamide, City Engineer pointed out that there had been two accidents at the narrowed street and that 13,000 vehicles pass the section daily.

RED ARROW

A red arrow which shows on the new traffic signals at Chapman Avenue and Kraemer Boulevard by the Placentia City Hal, means to stop, Ben Minamide, City Engineer explained this week. Although an innovation in traffic signals, the red still means stop and the green go, he stated.

appropriate to discuss this counter offer out in public."

In desperation a five minute recess was called for regrouping of the troops, along with City Attorney Charles Post III.

Langer pointed out that accepting the offer "means then that the city is now in the lending business."

Some councilmen said they were agreeable to "holding the paper"; others found that idea not very appealing.

"Increase the offer another $1,500," Park recommended. "It's the only legitimate offer we've had in seven months!"

"Another thing I can't see," Councilman Bob Langer protested, "there would have to be a large balloon payment at the end of the tenth year."

Mention was made that the building would be used as an art studio and work school which prompted Mayor Robert Lyons to query..."What about parking?"

In spite of the complexities, a motion emerged: the offer was rejected, a counter offer $1,500 higher instituted and some conditions, listed only by number, were changed.

Four councilmen voted Yes and Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan abstained.

Also seated in the audience were representatives of the Placentia Jaycees who not long ago were given visitation rights to the building by the council for $1 a year. Barely inside the door, the Jaycees, in case of sale, would have 90 days to vacate the premises.

Apartment Squabble

City Council rezoned the area R-3 PUD, which if R-3, would allow 25 units to the acre or PUD would restrict it to 10.

Fredricks contends that the company should make the decision as to which it would be, while the city council declares their intent was to hold the building to the lesser figure.

The area also was given a high density designation on the city's general plan but this has since been changed to medium density. Following this action, the city's planning commission changed the zoning recently to R-2 PUD, a designation of eight units to the acre.

James White, chief counsel for Fredricks, said that the company has spent roughly a half million dollars in developing plans and specification for the apartment project which would be money lost if the company were not allowed to build.

It has been suggested that the company, if thwarted in their plans, would try to recover the monetary loss by litigation.

The development if built would involve 270 dwelling units.

PUSD Bus Schedules

Bus schedules for the Placentia Unified School District have been printed and are available at all of the district's 21 schools.

Students who live beyond designated walking distances to their schools are eligible for busing, according to supervisor of transportation Ed Mier. Distances are a mile for kindergarten through third grades, 1¼ miles for fourth through sixth grades, 1½ miles for seventh and eighth grades and 2½ miles for ninth through twelfth grades.

"These distances are used as guidelines for providing student transportation," Mier explained. "Exceptions may be made when the safety of students is at question or when a student's physical condition requires transportation."

Most of the schedules remain about the same as last year's, Mier said.

All students living within the Brookhaven, Golden, Sierra Vista, Van Buren and Wagner elementary areas and El Dorado High School are within walking distance of their schools.

Almost 4,000 students are bused daily to Placentia district schools, Mier noted. Eight 16-passenger buses transport students to special education classes throughout the district. In addition, 20 large--79 and 91 passenger buses--will service students in Placentia schools.

Information about specific busing schedules may be obtained by calling schools in the attendance area in question.

Edison Closes Placentia Office

"In the continuing effort to reduce costs, the Southern California Edison Company will close its Placentia office September 19," Norm DeVilbiss, Edison's area manager reported today.

DeVilbiss explained that the force reduction of employees within the Company and the need to reduce overhead expenses have necessitated the closing of the office located at 1205 E. Yorba Linda Boulevard in Placentia.

"For the convenience of Edison customers, there is an authorized collection agency in the Placentia Drug at 630 West Chapman Avenue, Placentia," he said.

"All customer service activities normally handled by the Placentia office will be continued, but will emanate from Edison's Fullerton district headquarters at 221 S. Brookhurst in Fullerton," DeVilbiss said.

The area manager said that closing the facility is considered permanent.

Cranston, Tunney Introduce Aid Bill

California Senators Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney have introduced legislation authorizing $125.5 million in federal funds to partially reimburse local school districts for the cost of educating some 45,000 Vietnamese refugee children over the next two years.

The bill, which has the backing of Democratic and Republican leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott, would mean a $40.2 million refund to California communities where roughly one-third of those children--some 14,400--are expected to settle with their families.

The senators reported that HEW has agreed to make a maximum one time payment of $300 per refugee child in schools where, in the Department's opinion, there is "extreme impaction".

"That clearly is not adequate," Cranston and Tunney said. They said the average cost of education is $1,260 per pupil, plus another $300 for special language programs, a total of $1,560 per refugee child.

They said the Administration's proposal "ignores the fixed costs of schools, already budgeted. It ignores the potential for significant numbers of refugee children to be present in the public schools this fall or later in the school year. It skirts the firm promise of the federal government to help avoid financial hardship in local communities. And it ignores cutbacks in school programs that may have to be made in order to accommodate additional children."

The Cranston-Tunney bill calls for full reimbursement of $1,560 per refugee pupil aged 5 to 17 for the school year beginning this September. They estimate the total first-year cost at $84 million.

Reimbursement would be dropped to 50 percent the second school year beginning September 1976, at a cost to the federal government of $41.5 million. The program terminates September 30, the end of the 1977 fiscal year.

The Ronald Reagan Column

By Ronald Reagan
Copley news service

Turn around an old U.S. history course maxim that "trade follows the flag" and you have a hint of the government's strategy for normalizing relations with Cuba.

Last week the State Department announced that Latin American subsidiaries of U.S. companies may now obtain licenses to sell to Cuba "in countries where local law or policy favors trade with Cuba."

In effect, this means indirect trade in those Westrern Hemisphere nations which have begun trading with Cuba since the recent lifting of the OAS (Organization of American States) blanket ban.

The State Department took pains to minimize any diplomatic signifiance in the new policy. Since it is only one step removed from resumption of direct trade, however, one doesn't need much imagination to believe that a modest amount of indirect trade will make the American people so accustomed to the idea that full trade won't be far off.

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen said of the move, "There is no advantage that we can see in a permanent antagonism between the United States and Cuba."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who has been tub-thumping for normalization for months, said the U.S. sanctions against Cuban trade have been a "self-defeating mistake."

Others of the Washington establishment have been talking in the same vein.

What is missing is any official or even off-the-cuff declaration from our leaders that trade and diplomatic relations won't be resumed unless minimum U.S. requirements are met.

If such requirements have been established, no one is talking about them. In fact, the State Department keeps as low a profile as possible on the matter, not wanting to stir passions among Cuban ex-patriots in the United States or risk a barrage of criticism from conservatives.

The absence of any talk about the need for a quid pro quo in order to normalize relations with Cuba suggests either that the State Department is afraid to insist on one or is keeping secret its plans to get one.

Critics of detente in State's misguided tiptoe diplomacy over the Panama Canal are fearful it's the former.

There is plenty of ground for quid pro quo negotiating with Castro. One item should be an agreement by Cuba to deny landing and refueling rights to Soviet aircraft.

This last spring, Soviet warplanes refueled in Cuba during the worldwide Soviet naval maneuver "Okean 75." They then proceeded to make simulated attack runs off our East Coast.

Other U.S. objectives in quid pro quo bargaining could include denials by Cuba of naval base rights to the Soviets; reaffirmation of U.S. naval base rights at Guantanamo; compensation to Americans for property seized by Castro; free movement between the two nations; written guarantees by Castro that he won't attempt to export his revolutionary tactics to other Western Hemisphere nations; and restoration of human rights and freedom in Cuba, including religious freedom.

There hasn't been a single election in Castro's "paradise" since he came to power. That's a point worth talking about, too.

Recent conciliatory gestures by Castro, including the return of $2 million ransom money he had impounded in connection with a U.S. airliner hijacking, indicates that he is ready to talk turkey with the United States.

Since we can accomplish both humanitarian and national objectives in the process, it's time for the Washington establishment to lift its Cuban dialogue above the level of that advertising slogan, "Since we're neighbors, let's be friends."

Parade Entries Invited

With three weeks remaining before the deadline, a record number of entrants have already signed up for the 11th annual Heritage Festival parade, according to Mike McCoy and Alan Nichols co-chairmen for the Jaycees who sponsor the parade each year.

Highlighting the week long Heritage celebration, the two mile long parade begins its march at 11 a.m. on Oct. 11. Heritage Days begins Oct. 4.

The festival theme this year is "Placentia--The Total City" which symbolizes unity of spirit in this bicentennial year.

Parade applications are being accepted from all local and neighboring civic organizations, groups, clubs, schools, societies, and individuals and trophies will be awarded in a variety of categories. Any group or individual who wants to be in the parade who does not have an application contact Nichols 524-8838 or McCoy 528-8870.

ERA Debate

The Equal Rights Amendment will be the topic of the dessert meeting of the Orange Empire Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International), to be held at 7 p.m., on Thursday, September 4.

The speakers for the evening will be Nola Simon and Mrs. Mary Schmitz, wife of Congressman John Schmitz. Both sides of the issue will be presented with a question and answer session following the speakers.

The meeting will be held in the recreation center of Lake Park, Yorba Linda. Members of Orange Empire will provide desserts. Recipes for the desserts will be on sale before the meeting. For further information, contact Gene Drake 993-3072.

THE SPIRT OF '76 is a bright red, white and blue flag crocheted by Kathi Petrotta, [left] who completed the colorful work in seven weeks. With her is Tuffree Junior High School world geopraphy teacher James Perry and Kathy Kawakami, who submitted a written report on the flag. The flag won second place in flat artwork in the recent school's Freedom's Fair.

Openings For Bumble Berry Trip

There's still more room for people to go along on the trip to Bumble Berry Valley, Utah with the Placentia Senior Citizens, the group said this week. The trip will be from September 9 and returning September 12. The price of the trip is $72.

Anyone interested in signing up for the trip should contact Ione Aldrich at 993-4380, for further information.

Club To Check Pressures

The Health committee of the Placentia Junior Round Table has been involved with the Heart Association having inservice training on the correct procedure to take a blood pressure reading. On September 13, members of the club will be manning a mobile blood pressure unit at the Yorba Linda Safeway Center on Yorba Linda Boulevard.

The public is invited to come and have a free blood pressure check between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. The intention of the clinic is to make people with either low or high blood pressure aware of their condition in the hopes they will contact their doctor.

In an effort to do their part to support muscular dystrophy, members of the Placentia Junior Round Table assisted during the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy Telethon which was held August 31-September 1.

Linda Adams, Cecilia Brown, Myra Frank, Lynn McClard and Tryna Morton were at the Orange County area headquarters located at the Grand Hotel in Anaheim from 5 p.m. until 1 a.m. answering calls from area residents wishing to pledge donations to this worthy cause.

Douglas Griffith Davies of Yorba Linda was among the 417 elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, academic honorary society, at UCLA during the school year.

Youths Aid Orphanage

Alpha Center is initiating a Placentia youth participation project, to assist 44 needy children of an orphange in Tecate, Mexico. The program will include conducting a collection drive to obtain food, clothing, and toys, the Center said.

The group plans to transport all the collected items to the orphange in the very near future. The orphans will soon be enjoying the many items donated by the Placentia residents, the Center said. Upon their arrival at the orphanage, the participating youth will assist in Cultivating and planting a vegetable garden and in upgrading the orphanage facilities and grounds.

The young people will be continuing their door-to-door collection drive for food and toys. "If any of these fine young people come to your door, they would deeply appreciate your assistance in helping these needy orphans," stated Bob Mendoza. For more information, please call 993-4400 and ask for Mr. Mendoza.

Knight Speaks To NSA

Vick Knight, Director of Community Relations for Childrens Hospital of Orange County will speak to members and guests of Valencia Chapter of the National Secretaries Association at their September 11 meeting to be held at Dandel's Restaurant, 1490 South Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim.

The social hour begins at 6 p.m. with dinner at 6:45 p.m. Price is $5.50 per person. Reservations for the dinner may be made until September 8 by calling Janet Chamberlain, County of Orange, 532-7483 or Betty Wisley, Fluor Engineers (213) 262-6111, Ext.1754.

Knight was formerly Assistant Superintendent of Placentia Unified School District. His topic will be "My Word", covering inspiring, humorous and revelatory contributions from contemporary political leaders, entertainers and writers in response to his request for their "favorite word" and a rationale for its selection.

Knight completed his undergraduate degree at USC and was named Orange County's "Educator of the Year" in 1971. He is the award winning author of a series of science texts and several other books for young readers. His records, cassettes and TV appearances have exposed both his serious and humorous sides to an even greater audience.

ROBIN BURNS

Army Private Robin L. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavell Burns, 919 Hibiscus Way, Placentia, is now assigned as a gunner with the 3rd Armored Division in Butzback, Germany.

Wasting Water Warning

The hot dry season has hit Orange County and Ralph Shook, general manager of the Yorba Linda County Water District, said customers should take steps not to waste water.

"We have plenty of water, but water waste will eventually be reflected higher costs to our customer," Shook said, "just as water savings will mean lower customer costs."

He suggested this week that watering lawns and shrubs be restricted to early morning or evening hours when evaporation from wind and sun is at its lowest.

Shook said, "Where residents do not have automatic timers on their sprinkler systems they can set a kitchen alarm timer in the house to remind them to turn off their water.

"Excess water going down the gutter is the greatest water waste of all," he said, "because your yard doesn't benefit from the water and you have a higher water bill.

"If it appears your neighbor has forgotten to turn off his sprinklers, call him up and remind him," Shook said.

"Savings in water is also a savings in energy costs. And it means a lower monthly water bill for our customers."

Corrigan Tops

Donald J. Corrigan, Yorba Linda, has qualified as a member of the 1975 Top Club of New York Life Insurance Company.

The Top Club is composed of New York Life's outstanding agents. Membership is based on 1974-75 sales records, according to Robert W. Larsen, general manager of the company's general office in Fullerton.

In recognition of Corrigan's achievement, he will be attending an educational conference in San Diego.

PUSD Employees To Meet

All 1,150 employees of the Placentia Unified School District will meet together for an annual back-to-school orientation session at 9 a.m. Thursday, September 4, at the Valenica High School Auditorium.

All schools and offices in the district will be closed for two hours so that all certificated and classfied employees can attend the once-a-year meeting, according to Supt. John Tynes.

Purpose of the meeting is to "establish a sense of family" among employees as they work together during the school year. Tynes will address the session to highlight district goals for the year.

Greeting employees will be all five members of the board of education: Dr. William Yates, president; Salvador Zavala, vice president; John Balducci, clerk; and Jean Pappas and John Press, trustees.

Other platform guests will be Doris Bush, president of the local chapter of California School Employees Association; Nick Siokos, president of Placentia Administrators Association; Barbara Steinberger, president of Placentia Unified Education Association; and Eileen Hunt, president of Placentia Council Parent-Teachers Association.

At 11 a.m. members of PUEA will meet in the Valenica Auditorium,, and CSEA will meet in the Kraemer Junior High Cafetorium.

KATIE'S COLUMN
or DOWN ON THE FARM
by Kay Starr

There's no question about it, summer is over. My youngest is shopping for school clothes, a sure sign that vacation is waning. My oldest takes a jacket with him when he goes off on his motorcycle at night. My older daughter is wearing full-length jeans instead of cut-offs.

The only hold-out is the youngest boy, still trying to stay in his cut-offs and sleeveless tank tops. As for me, the trees are my indication that fall approaches. They are looking dusty, and need a trim.

The pruning I started already, and I get so excited about how beautiful the trees are that my work slows down as I spend the time admiring instead of working. Perhaps that's one of the things that keep farmers farming even when disasters strike. It's the beauty of growing things.

When you're looking for a snack that willbe lower in carbohydrates, how about trying raw sunflower seeds, raw peanuts and raisins? Once you get used to the flavor, it is quite delicious. It keeps well, too. Our mixture is stored in a plastic container, kept right on the counter for easy nibbling.

The excitement of the laundromat is gone. The second week was dull, just very busy. I even got hustled out of the washers, I was using by an energetic soul who was watching them more than I was.

A recent article spoke about the hearing loss of Americans. It amounts to around 15 million people, 20% of whom are school age. Well, I can tell you why the youngsters are deaf, they can't find the knob to turn down their stereos.

I don't need to know my address, I just listen for the loudest noises. For some time I have been advocating buying stock in hearing aid companies. I think it's the coming big item.

For the end of the summer blues, here's a new way to get more enjoyment out of your "Monopoly" game. Find a second board and put them together touching at "GO". Continue game as usual in a figure eight pattern.

Makes for a very different situation. As for my end of summer blahs, I'll just retreat to the farm, where I can watch my trees grow, the dog chase the rabbits and something eat my green tomatoes.

Cheer up, it's almost time for school to start.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS
By John Payne
Owner-Reg. Pharmacist
Those on the shady side of the Generation Gap may remember when "inflammation of the bowels" was fairly common. It was often given as the cause of death. At the turn of the century, medical science did not understand the nature of...let alone a treatment for...inflammation of the bowels.
Then, autopsies were performed on the bodies of hundreds of victims of the malady. Made at different stages of the condition, the autopsies showed that the fatal infections had started in and spread from a small projection stemming from the large intestine. Once this was known, appendicitis ceased to be a major cause of death.

MRS. PHILIP ATKINS- PATTENSON

Pattenson-Atkins

An afternoon wedding in the garden of the bride's home united Wendy Annette Atkins and Philip Frederick Pattenson in marriage. Rev. Bruce Van Blair performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Peregrine, 19042 Lamplight Lane, Yorba Linda. The groom is the son of James Pattenson of Pasadena.

For the double ring wedding the bride wore Bianchi's tiers of candelight rayon organza caught with flowers, a chapel train and organza bridal hat.

She carried pink and apricot roses and wore a cameo that belonged to a great-grandmother and a diamond bracelet that belonged to another great-grandmother.

Given in marrage by her stepfather, Howard C. Peregrine, the bride had Miss Laurel Plato as her maid of honor. Miss Plato wore apricot voile with a similar color picture hat and carried a rose bouquet.

The brother of the groom James T. Pattenson, Jr., was best man.

The reception followed the wedding in the garden with a three piece Renaissance trio furnishing music on two guitars and a flute. Marrianna Van Blair was the vocalist who accompanied herself on the dulcimer.

There were 175 guests present. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Thomas Simon and Mrs. Judy Skidmore, along with nieces Tracy and Karal Skidmore and Jean Pattenson assisted.

For their honeymoon the couple went backpacking in the Sierras before returning to Cambridge, Mass. to make their home while continuing their graduate studies at Harvard University. It was at Harvard where they met while pursuing their studies as Rockefeller Fellows.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Redlands and the groom graduated from Stanford University.

The couple took each other's names and will be known as Mr. and Mrs. Philip Atkins-Pattenson.

OCTD Gets $14.5 Million

The Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) has approved more than $14.5 million in local transportation funds for the Orange County Transit District (OCTD).

According to Ralph B. Clark, chairman of the SCAG Transportation and Utilities Committee, and Orange County Supervisor, approximately $1.4 million of the money will be used along with $3.2 million of federal funds to add 50 large buses and 46 small buses to the existing OCTD fleet.

A similar amount of money has been approved for two bus service facilities, one in Garden Grove and another located in the south county area, Clark said.

"In addition, nearly $1.2 million will be used along with over $4.9 million of federal funds to design a multi-modal terminal in Santa Ana and in Anaheim, design ten park-and-ride lots, and expand parking at commuter rail stations in Santa Ana and Fullerton," Clark explained.

He said the cost of these and other projects-such as the replacement of some existing buses, purchase of bus shelters, benches, signs, signal and communications equipment-would be about $8.7 million.

National Champs Coaching Staff

The Aztecs, 1974 national Pop Warner champions, begin defense of their title with the opening of practice. Some 35 candidates were greeted by Head Coach Ed Israel and his staff to begin working toward a repeat of the national title. Players are from Placentia and Yorba Linda.

Coach Israel is proud of his staff which will guide the Aztecs during the 1975 season. For Coach Israel, Coach Baker and Coach McGrory, this will be their sixth season together. Added to the staff are Coach Bill Weirich, Coach Les Peterson and Coach Mike Will.

Coach Bill Baker will be the offensive coordinator and backfield coach. He played his football at Reedley College in Northern California as well as service ball during the Korean War.

He guided the very potent Aztec offense last season. This season he will work with the entire offense in addition to some duties with the backs.

Coach Denny McGrory, in addition to high school ball, played his football at Fordham University under the great Vince Lombardi. He was the Aztecs head scout last season and responsible for the fine preparation for each game the Aztecs had. This season he will coach the receivers and the defensive secondary and the specialty teams.

Coach Bill Weirich was the head football coach at Rowland High School for eight years. During that period he guided his team into the CIF playoffs on several occasions. He will coach the offensive line and the defensive linebackers for the Aztecs this season.

Coach Les Peterson is the newest addition to the Aztec staff. He was a successful coach in the Fullerton Pop Warner program several years ago when his son Todd, now the QB at El Dorado High School, played.

His coaching experience covers some six years. He will coach the offensive backs along with Coach Baker.

Coach Mike Will worked with the Aztecs in 1974 when he coached the offensive and defensive line. He returns for the 1975 season to coach the defensive line.

He played his football at Mt. San Antonio College in Pomona. He did a fine job with the line in 1974 and should repeat in 1975.

Head Coach Israel is heading into his 10th season of coaching. It all started in 1966 in another football program and he was one of those instrumental in starting Pop Warner in Placentia-Yorba Linda.

He played his football in Baltimore at Baltimore City College (a high school) and also in the service. Coach Israel, in addition to being head coach, will be the defensive coordinator.

That is the national champion Aztec coaching staff which is looking forward to another fine year as they move into what should be a very tough schedule.

Sports Couple At Church

The sports world's favorite husband and wife team, Cathy Rigby and Tommy Mason, will headline this fall's first Fellowship Breakfast Wednesday, Sept. 3, at Garden Grove Community Church.

The Masons will share their philosophies on life and some of the highlights of their lives at this 6:30 a.m. breakfast. These breakfasts are held each Wednesday in GGCC's Fellowship Hall, 12141 Lewis St.

Cathy, known as the gymnastic pixie, became the youngest member of the 1968 Olympic team when she was 15 years old. Although the youngest member, she finished 15th in competition, the highest an American gymnast had ever finished in the Olympics.

She made history in 1970 when she won a Silver Medal on the balance beam in Lubijana, Yugoslavia. This was the first medal ever won by an American gymnast in international competition.

In 1972 she set another mark, placing 10th in the Olympics. Again, this was the highest any American gymnast had ever placed in the Olympics.

When Cathy retired from competition after the 1972 Olympic Games, she had won 12 medals in international competition. Of those 12, eight were Gold Medals. At the time of her retirement, she was ranked fifth in the world in women's gymnastics.

Since becoming a professional, she has made numerous appearances on television, both on variety programs as featured performer and on game shows. In 1974 she toured the United States as the star of NBC's Peter Pan.

Cathy was married to Mason on Jan. 20, 1973. Mason, a 12-year veteran of the National Foorball League, is a former All-Pro running back with the Minnesota Vikings. He was the NFL's number one draft choice in 1961 when the Vikings drafted him.

Mason retired from professional football in 1972 after also playing for the Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins. He presently is a sportscaster for CBS and a fourth-year law student at Western State University, Fullerton.

Reservations for this breakfast are $1.75 and may be made through Rev. David Bailey's office, 534-0275. Reservation deadline is Friday, Aug. 29.

Students Honored

Elizabeth Merhab of Yorba Linda, a third year student at Western State University College of Law of Orange County, located in Fullerton, was honored recently for her academic achievements and contributions to the school during the 1974-75 school year.

She received a Foundation Press Award as one of the students in each of the four classes with the highest cumulative scholastic average. She received one title from Foundation Press' University Textbook Series.

Larry Charles Drapkin, son of Herbert Drapkin, 19812 Burleigh Drive, Yorba Linda, was named to the Dean's List at University of California, Santa Barbara. Drapkin was named to the List, which honors undergraduate students of high academic standing, for the spring quarter.

YL Driver To Compete

Fairway Ford in Placentia may not appear to be one of the country's busiest recreational vehicle centers from the outside, but it's a fact that it is Ford Motor Co.'s most active Bronco outlet.

In pickup trucks it is a beehive of activity not only in sales, but in special accessories and equipment for them that add even greater strength and mobility than the factory can build in.

All of this is a reality through the personal direction of owner Dick Landfield, of Yorba Linda, who knows from first-hand experience what pickup truck and four-wheel drive users will need when the going really gets tough.

Landfield has put Ford vehicles through paces that send chills up the spines of factory engineers, but it's part of his belief that to make something right it must be developed through personal involvement.

And involved Landfield gets, through frequent participation in frenzied off-road racing where vehicles must take the severest punishment in stride.

Off-road racing is simple: beef up a truck (or motorcycle, sedan, or buggy) unitl it can run at full throttle over impossible terrain without a whimper.

Jump it off car-launching leaps, spin it through silted hairpin turns, jolt it over rocky straightaways, and at the same time beat the competition in fender-to-fender battling to the finish line.

Landfield's current project is getting Ford's Courier mini-truck to stand such treatment. It's ready to debut now, and Landfield has entered it in SCORE's "AC-Delco World Championships" of off-road racing to proved its mettle.

All the hills and gulleys common to Baja have been bulldozed into Riverside Raceway's infield in a 3½ mile circuit, around which over 300 off-road racing stars will compete in 14 separate classes for nearly $200,000 in combined purse and contingency awards.

The 3-day speed extravaganza will continue from Sept. 5-7. Landfield hopes to show the stiff competition the short way around the devilish circuit in his potent Courier which is, naturally, sponsored by his own Fairway Ford.

And show them he will as Landfield took first in his class at last year's SCORE's sports classic at Riverside. If the suspension and driveline tricks that Landfield has developed prove their worth, then all Courier buyers will eventually benefit.

Off-road enthusiasts can enjoy all three days of events at the World Championships, plus overnight camping, for a single ticket price of $9.

It includes the Friday practice sessions, Saturday qualifying for position races and a special Class 11 race that night which features stock VW's, and all of the Sunday Main Events. A Sunday-only ticket for $7 is available and allows camping after 10 p.m. Saturday.

LegionPartOfDedication

Placentia Post #277 of the American Legion is proud to participate in the Placentia Memorial Fountain dedication program Sunday September 7th, at 2 p.m. the organization said this week.

The Memorial Fountain is located on the former site of the Placentia Post #277 Legion Hall.

The post was formed in 1928 and the hall was built, on the site, the northeast corner of Chapman and Walnut, by a group of dedicated World War I veterans, Ken Freel, Post Commander recalled this week.

"Nearly 20 World War I veterans are still members of our post," Freel said, "Many have dedicated more than 50 years to the American Legion". The Placentia post has been very active in the community for more than 47 years, perhaps one of the oldest organizations in the city of Placentia, he stated.

The local legion, at the present, is modernizing and refurbishing the former Placentia Post Office building at 230 S. Bradford in Placentia and hopes to have this as their new home in the near future, Freel continued. Meetings are now held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month in the youth center building directly north of the new Memorial Fountain.

This youth center building was built by local legionnaires and their friends for scouting activities and was used, for many years, by the sea scouts and Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Placentia post, in addition to other youth and civic groups.

Placentia Post #277 Freel reports, is opening it's rolls, for a limited number of applications for new membership. Those who have served their country, in the United States Armed Forces, during the following dates; April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918 or December 7, 1942 to December 31, 1946 or June 25, 1950 to January 31, 1955 or August 5, 1964 to August 15, 1973, may secure an application from any of the following sources: Attend any of the meetings at the Youth Center either the second or fourth Tuesday of each month; drop a note to the Placentia Post #277, the American Legion. P.O. Box 296, Placentia, California 92670, or call any of the following post members... Adjutant-George Phillips-879-1346, 1st. Vice Commander-John Byrne-531-1131, Executive Board Member-Woody Murphy-528-1462 or Commander-Ken Freel-774-5414.

Veterans, men and women, sincere in wishing to serve their community are assured a friendly welcome to the "Friendly Placentia Post", Freel said.

Members of the local legion post are requested to attend the Memorial Fountain dedication service in appropriate uniform, he stated.

Cooper Backs Rent Bill

Councilman Sam Cooper, Brea, stated today that although the rent bill for mobile home tenants, AB 718, died in the California Senate Judiciary Committee, he intends to go on fighting for the rights of the mobile home tenants.

Cooper went on to say that in his opinion a viable and responsible bill can be put together in the best interest of all concerned.

The Councilman has plans to organize a massive effort in Orange County which would encompass all mobile home residents in a direct, positive, responsible and winning approach to a new rent bill that he will be asking Assemblyman John Briggs of Fullerton to introduce at the next session of the Legislature in December, 1975.

In conclusion, Cooper stated that is was not a total loss since he has learned the mechanics and the pitfalls to avoid in getting legislation through the State Legislature. The mobile home people may have lost a battle but they will win the war against unreasonable rent increases in the end, he concluded.

Councilman Cooper also is a member of the Tri-City Park Authority, which governs the 40-acre park surrounding Lake Placentia.

COMMENTS FROM CALVARY
by R.W. CUNNINGHAM

WE ARE INDEPENDENT WHAT THIS MEANS
There are several different kinds of Baptist basically similar in doctrine. CALVARY BAPTIST can be identified in the following three ways:
1. CALVARY BAPTIST IS AN INDEPENDENT CHURCH.
This means we recognize no external authority or hierarchy. We own our property, govern our own affairs in a congregational way and are free to choose our own Sunday School material.
2. CALVARY BAPTIST IS A FUNDAMENTAL CHURCH.
We are literalists in the interpretation of Scripture, evangelistic in all of our program, and earnestly contend for the faith without being cantankerous.
3. CALVARY BAPTIST IS A MISSIONARY CHURCH.
We are presently sending monthly support to 12 missionary projects. We send our money directly to our missionaries with nothing being deducted by a denominational office. When we send $50.00 to a missionary, he receives the entire $50.00
We are INDEPENDENT as far as man is concerned, but we recognize our TOTAL DEPENDENCE is upon God.

PacificChristian Looks ToRecord

Dr. Medford H. Jones, president, has announced a record enrollment of students in sight for Pacific Christian College, Fullerton. The college, which moved from Long Beach to the Orange County city just two years ago, occupying the old Titan Center across Nutwood Avenue from California State University, has doubled its enrollment in the past three years.

This year, according to best estimates, over 500 should register for classes, over 130 of whom will be Freshmen students.

The college dormitories, formerly Othry's Halls, will accommodate over 250 PCC students and another 100 from Cal State, the Western University College of Law, and Fullerton College.

John Thickins, new Vice-President for Student Life and Growth and recently on the staff of Azusa Pacific College, will head a new program of living-learning experiences unique among college dormitories.

All residents, without regard to college affiliation, race, sex, or religious affiliation, will be involved in such interaction activities as tutoring, special-interest classes, recreation, devotional and study groups.

Two new instructors, Prof. Mont Smith and Ed Wolfe, will teach Mission and Church Growth and music ensembles and piano, respectively. Prof. Smith comes to the college from a full background of teaching in the Oregon schools systems in the U.S. and Ethiopia schools in Africa.

Orientation week is being held through September 5, with day classes convening on September 8, night classes on September 9. In a program initiated last year, the college sponsors and accredits a few special classes in county churches on Sunday mornings, usually in the Sunday School hour.

Dr. Paul McReynolds, academic dean, should be contacted at the college for further information on classes and registration.

Monks Plan 18th Festival

FALL FESTIVAL-Mr. and Mrs. Harold Muller of Placentia will again be at their game booth when the Benedictine Monks of St. Andrew's Priory stage their 18th annual Valyermo Fall Festival on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 27th and 28th, on their 500-acre ranch grounds in the Antelope Valley near Palmdale. They are among some several hundred volunteers who help stage the popular two-day event.

A professionally staged production of "The Little Prince," an authentic village of Hopi Indian craftsmen, two major art shows and an outdoor dance celebration will be among the top attractions when the Benedictine monks of St. Andrew's Priory unveil their popular 18th annual Valyermo Fall Festival on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 27th and 28th, on their 500-acre ranch in the Antelope Valley near Palmdale.

The classic drama by Antoine de St. Exupery will have Robert Steele, aged 12, in the title role as the Little Prince, and starring with him will be film-TV actor Christopher Mears, currently being seen on the screen in "The Great Waldo Pepper." Direction is by Warren J. Deacon, who was formerly associated with the South Coast Repertory Theatre and the Newport Beach Open End Theatre.

The two-day festival, which originally was conceived as a small country fair and an expression of gratitude to the many friends of St. Andrew's, has gradually grown into one of Southern California's major September events, with entertainment and activities planned for all members of the family.

Widely attended by visitors is the Indian Village, an enclosure in which Hopi craftsmen from Second Mesa, Arizona, demonstrate such native American skills as jewelry making, basket and rug weaving, the almost lost art of piki bread making and kachina doll sculpture. Joining them will be famed sandpainter David Villasenor.

Art lovers will have their choice of a contemporary liturgical art invitational exhibit which features current general religious expression and an Artist's Alley in which an even dozen participants will show a wide variety of canvases ranging from large landscapes to miniature canvases.

Each afternoon at 4 p.m. there will be the traditional vespers dance celebration on an open stage in the plaza following the theme of "Come to the Wedding." It will be done to an original narration, with choreography by Brad Brown and John West, and special music by Don Dittmer.

Other offerings will include old and new bookstalls, gift shops, boutiques, pottery and ceramic demonstrations, glass blowing, sketch artists and oil and watercolor artists at work, a herb and spice shop, games, and a special exhibit of ceramics and desert driftwood sculptures made by the monks themselves in their studios during the year.

To please all tastes, there will be five restaurants including the Continental Cafe, the Chinese Tea Garden, the Pizza Parlor, Pierre's Roast Beef and The Cantina, as well as hamburger, hot dog and fresh buttered corn stalls, in addition to beer booths and soft drink stands.

Children will have a mini-farm in which they can pet live animals, pony and stagecoach rides, puppet show, finger and rock painting, and a chance to help build the Eagle's Nest, a tree house nestled in the branches of a sturdy cottonwood tree. A baby-sitting service is also provided.

"God's Half Acre" is a small green plot adjacent to the chapel where various religious exhibits will be displayed, books on religious themes will be sold, and bales of hay will be placed throughout as a resting spot.

Hours will be from 10:00 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, and the Priory can be reached from Los Angeles area via the Antelope Valley freeway to the Littlerock turnoff, then through Littlerock and Pearblossom to the marked St. Andrew's Priory turnoff. There is no admission charge but a $1 all-day parking fee will be asked.

VOTER REGISTRATION

Motor vehicles Director Herman Sillas today announced that starting September 15, Californians 18 years old or older may register to vote at the same time they are renewing their drivers license or registering their vehicle.

Church Plans Concerts

The Vienna Choir Boys, Johnny Mann Singers, Roger Wagner Chorale, Mary Costa, Carmen Dragon and the Suzuki Children will headline Artist Series '75-'76, bringing the highest quality in cultural entertainment to Orange County.

Artist Series '75-'76, under the auspices of the Christian Development Center for the Performing Arts (Garden Grove) and the Orange County Cultural Center, Inc., presents six outstanding evenings of concerts in the glass sanctuary of Garden Grove Community Church, the church said this week.

The world-famous, 1700-seat sanctuary will be the spotlight for Orange County's cultural events this season, beginning Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. with the internationally acclaimed Suzuki Children. These virtuoso violinists from Japan, aged 3-13, will perform the works of Vivaldi, Bach, Beethoven and Handel as taught them by Shinichi Suzuki.

Metropolitan Opera star Mary Costa, at the pinnacle of her remarkable operatic and concert career, will appear in concert Nov. 28 at 8 p.m. Acclaimed last season for her portrayal of Marenka in Sarah Caldwell's staging of "The Bartered Bride" with the Boston Opera Company, Mary Costa shares a world wide operatic experience including the Metropolitan Opera, Covent Garden, the Bolshoi Opera in Moscow and performances in Geneva and London.

In the glowing light of hundreds of candles, Carmen Dragon will conduct two Candlelight Concerts with the Holiday Orchestra and the Hour of Power Choir Dec. 19. Dragon, music director-conductor of the famed Glendale Symphony Orchestra, will conduct a concert for the family at 6:45 p.m. and a formal concert at 9:15 p.m.

The Roger Wagner Chorale and Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Roger Wagner, will carry Artist Series '75-'76 into the new year with their 8 p.m. Valentine's Day concert. This 26-voice chorale, the professional nucleus of the Los Angeles Philharmonic since they were engaged originally for that purpose by Alfred Wallenstein.

The world-famous Vienna Choir Boys will be featured at 8 p.m. March 9 in their only Orange County concert next spring as part of Artist Series '75-'76. One of the oldest and most appealing musical organizaions in the world.

Season reservations for Artist Series '75-'76 are available through the Performing Arts Center, which is located on the campus of Garden Grove Community Church, 12141 Lewis St. Season reservations are $30 per individual and $75 per family. Special reservations are needed for the formal concert with Carmen Dragon. For season reservation and single concert reservation information, contact the Performing Arts Center, (714) 534-0275.

Proceeds from this most outstanding Artist Series '75-'76 will benefit the Great Pipe Organ Fund of Garden Grove Community Church. The Great Pipe Organ Fund will bring the greatest pipe organ music to the Pacific Coast with the five-manual, 116 rank Ruffatte pipe organ, now nearing completion in Padua, Italy.

This fine instrument actually will consist of two organs: a two-manual, antiphonal organ to be located in the GGCC sanctuary balcony, and California's first complete five-manual console to be located in the Sanctuary choir loft. Both organs will be played at the same time by the same organist, creating a stereophonic-like experience for worshippers sitting between the two instruments.

This two-console, 7000-pipe instrument is being built by the world's foremost pipe organ builders, the Fratelli Ruffatte Company, in business since 1700.

This great pipe organ is scheduled to arrive in January, 1976, and will be dedicated in the Fall of 1976 upon its installation in the present walk-in, drive-in sanctuary at the intersection of Chapman Avenue and Lewis Street.

Church Film

"A Thief in the Night" will be the feature film shown as junior high school students from all over North Orange County are invited to a "back to school rally" at Rose Drive Friends Church from 7-9:30 p.m. on Monday, September 8.

Les Christie, youth director at Eastside Christian Church, Fullerton, will speak following the film. Also from Eastside will be Neal Tardiff, who will provide special music to welcome the young people to the event.

It is open to all junior high students, regardless of their church home. Refreshments will follow the rally, and a fifty cent donation is asked if possible.

All youth sponsors are also welcome to attend. Rose Drive Friends Church is located at 4221 Rose Drive (at Bastanchury) in Yorba Linda.

Where There's Smoke There's Tax Money

Cigarette smokers have provided another $11,178.-80 in tax money for the two cities of Placentia and Yorba Linda for the month of August, California State Controller Kenneth Cory announced today.

Other tax returns from the state for the last month amount to $47,318.59 for the two cities.

Placentia has received $25,710.63 in highway users taxes for August and Yorba Linda, $17,748.68. In lieu motor vehicle license fees amounted to $2,289.79 in Placentia and $1,569.49 in Yorba Linda.

Gates Urges Bills Support

Orange County Sheriff-Coroner Brad Gates is urging the citizens of this area to write to their State legislators so that law enforcement legislation now pending might have a chance of moving out of committee during this session.

"Now that we are in the home stretch of legislative action in Sacramento, many bills that could deter crime and in turn offer greater protection to our citizens may die in committee due to the lack of public support," stated the Sherriff.

He added, "The irony of it all is that there is no significant cost attached to the passage of these crime bills but without them our citizens are faced with increased costs at the local level by having to add personnel and equipment to an already strained budget."

Presently, there are seven bills that have cleared the State Senate and are being debated in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee. During the 1973-74 legislative session, the Assembly Committee killed 40 bills that had been passed by the Senate.

It is therefore imperative that concerned citizens make their views known immediately, Sheriff Gates adds. Members of the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee include: Alan Sieroty (Chairman); Julian C. Dixon and Art Torres of Los Angeles; John T. Knox of Richmond; Kenneth L. Moody of Fresno and Bruce Nestande of Orange. The bills include:

1. SB 574 (Robbins), requiring mandatory prison sentence for those twice convicted of rape.
2. SB 268 (Robbins), requiring mandatory prison sentence for those convicted of selling heroin.
3. SB 278 (Duekmejian), requiring mandatory prison sentence for those convicted of using or carrying a firearm during the commission of a dangerous felony.
4. SB 237 (Carpenter), requiring mandatory prison sentence for burglars with two or more first or second degree burglary convictions.
5. SB 554 (Presley), makes a battery of a person 65 years of age or older a felony rather than a midemeanor.
6. SB 615 (Deukmejian), increased penalty by two years of imprisonment for those who commit or attempt to commit a crime on a person 65 or older, blind, quadraplegic or paraplegic.
7. SB 486 (Carpenter), imposes death penalty when a life inmate is subsequently convicted of murdering a non-inmate.

"I urge every citizen interested in assisting law enforcement in getting this valuable legislation out of Committee and on to the floor of the Asembly, to please contact the above gentlemen as soon as possible," said Sheriff Gates.

Parade Marshal Still Unnamed

A Grand Marshal has not as yet been named for the 11th annual Jaycee sponsored Placentia Heritage Festival Days parade, which will take place this year on October 11.

The Festival will open on Saturday, October 4, ending on the following Saturday with the parade and Picnic In The Park.

Some game booths are still available for the picnic for organizations who would like to operate them, the Festival board of directors reports. Food booth requests have been closed, the group said.

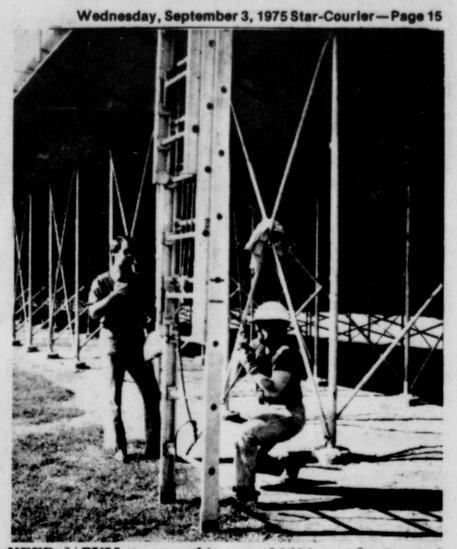
WHAT GOES UP, must come down, as applicants for the Reserves in the Placentia Fire Department, find out on their physical fitness exams. Climbing the ladder, locking a leg, then leaning back arms free is John Wilbourn of La Habra. Bob Rudolph of the Reserves observes. [left picture]

NOT A MOUNTAIN CLIMB, but 150 feet of fire hose unrolled in a dead run by applicants also strapped with a heavy Scott Air Pack, on their backs. This was the most difficult part in the physical fitness exams for men who are seeking 31 Placentia Reserve Firemen positions, for which the pay is $2 per hour. Left to right, making an all out effort are Peter Jimenez, Santa Ana; John Markin, Yorba Linda; Michael Massaro, Santa Ana with Fireman Larry Kliner shouting encouragement and Brian Hill, Fullerton.



NEED A PULL to pass this test of ladder extension and working hard at it is John Rudner, Placentia, timed here by Reserves President Jerry Hopkins. [right picture]

A STOP WATCH is held on Bill Wilder of Placentia as he puts together and takes apart a series of hose fittings. Assisting with the testing are Bob Taylor [left] and Don Guillette, both Placentia Reserve Firemen. The tests were given Saturday at Bradford Stadium, Valencia High School. [center picture]

Welfare Needs Structure

"If you wished to construct a management that you wanted to fail, you would construct the welfare department," Richard Ruiz, Chief Deputy Director of the Department of Social Services, of Orange County told members of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon meeting last week.

"There has to be a better way," Ruiz candidly explained to his audience. "It's terribly ineffiecient and it costs an awful lot of money.

"The regulations are a morass," Ruiz continued. "It's a very expensive program. It's a Frankenstein. Almost any other system would be better," the college professor, who seven months ago assumed his present position, told Placentia businessmen.

Ruiz explained that the laws of the land governing the dispensation of welfare all stem from the Social Security Acts of 1935. "That is the legal basis of all welfare programs in the United States," Ruiz outlined.

He said that trying to improve the system and make it more efficient by using a barrage of directives is like "sticking on bandaids."

Ruiz explained that he works under four boards of directors at the same time, including the federal government, the state, the county supervisors and the juvenile court and that he is responsible to all four. In three months time, he received 168 directives from the state alone, that required that he take some kind of action.

"It's a terrible way to manage anything," Ruiz embellished. In addition, he explained, the courts anytime can make decisions that can vitally affect case loads and the management of the department.

"Welfare needs the best kind of management and it has the worst kind of management. I have ten minutes of every day to do any planning. That's absolutely ridiculous," Ruiz added.

Ruiz supervises a department of 1,500 employees with a budget this year of $104 million.

The largest welfare program in the county in numbers of people is food stamps, which is servicing 55,566.

More than 15,000 families are receiving welfare payments including twice that many youngsters. Ruiz finds many of his department's statistics in direct correlation with the state of employment in the county.

Ruiz's department basically has four programs to administer: financial and medical assistance to people who are eligible; food stamps; social services and protection for children against their parents and to see that they lead a reasonable life.

"Most people believe that welfare is aimed at adults...but that's not true. It's really aimed at children," he explained.

Some programs are financed exclusively by the property tax, and some are totally funded by the federal government, such as the Cuban Refugee Assistance Program and the Indo-Chinese Assistance Program. Others are a sharing of financing.

The general economy has a direct bearing on the demands on the Social Services Department. Statistics rose here sharply in 1970 to 1971 in the mass layoffs connected with closing down the country's major space efforts, clearly mirrored in this area.

Arnoldt Selected

NEW POST for Chuck Arnoldt [left] is that of Acting Coordinator of Career-Vocational Education for the Placentia Unified School District for the coming year. Arnoldt has been head of the Industrial Arts Department at El Dorado High School before his new assignment. Welcoming him is Superintendent of Schools, John Tynes.

Charles "Chuck" Arnoldt, chairman of the industrial arts department at El Dorado High School in Placentia, was named acting coordinator of vocational/career education in the Placentia Unified School District, following acceptance of the resignation of Eugene Simms, who has served in the position for the past year.

Simms has accepted a position as associate dean of instruction at Seattle Central Community College. He will leave Placentia the end of July.

Arnoldt has been with the Placentia school district since 1966 as a shop teacher and as industrial arts department chairman at El Dorado.

He holds a B.S. degree from Winona (Minn.) State College and his M.S. degree from California State University, Long Beach. He is working in the administrative internship program at Whittier College.

Last school year he participated in the Placentia district's management intern program. He has served as secretary and president of the Academic Senate at El Dorado High.

Arnoldt's appointment is effective August 1 and will continue for a year on an acting basis, according to Superintendent John Tynes.

from herbie's corner

By Jack Scarpa

The Planning Commission members of Placentia often tussle for long periods of time over the sign requests of local businessmen. The Commission who has the power to approve or deny sign requests often find themselves in a real dilemma.

On the one hand is the local businessman who may have invested his life savings in a business, and of course, he needs a sign large enough to show his location plainly. On the other hand, the Commission doesn't want Placentia to end up in a weltering profusion of signs that flash, blink and come in a bewildering array of sizes.

Consequently, almost any sign request will cause the Commissioners to discuss such particulars as the material used in making the sign, size, illumination, placement and color of the sign. The study the sketches and designs of the proposed sign and the whole thing can drag on and on.

One smart businessman came prepared to last week's meeting. He marched into the polished, carpeted and upholstered chambers at City Hall determined to gain approval. He carried not sketches or pictures but the real thing-a hefty and attractive sign. There were no questions, no hassle, just a quick look and instant approval by somewhat startled Commissioners.

What a way to cut through the red tape!

Moving

People are funny. We have furniture stored in the garage and with neighbors, furniture stored in a warehouse and furniture in out townhouse. Now we are moving into a home we purchased in North Placentia and what's the first thing my wife did-ordered more furniture.

That's not bad enough, she's planning a garage sale to get rid of those items she terms excess-like my favorite couch! Husbands ought to unite!

Huxley Wrote

"Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not. This is the first lesson to be learned."

Brooks Wrote

"Do not pray for easy lives; pray to be stronger men. Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers; pray for powers equal to your tasks. Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle, but you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come by the grace of God."

Poet Wakely

The toys and blocks with which we play are houses, lands and gold.
Their values quickly pass away, As does a tale that's told.
But kindly, gracious deeds abide, Their wealth will not depart;
Their flowers of joy are multiplied In gardens of the heart.

The two ring stewards will be Ron McRoberts and Dewey O'Neal. Jim Sturgeon will be the announcer.

Junior E.T.I. members will have a cook shack on the grounds and will sell hot food, snacks and beverages. All proceeds will go to their treasury for winter activities.

Library Showcase

New 16mm films:

Nearly a dozen new films have arrived and will be added to the Yorba Linda library's permanent collection.

Three are Dr. Seuss classics "Green Eggs and Ham", "The Sneetches" and "The Zax," loved by adults as well as children and each with a pointed message painlessly delivered.

There are also two mini-comedies "Berth Marks," and "Hog Wild," with favorites Laurel and Hardy. Two more guaranteed to generate smiles and chuckles are "Birthday Blues," featuring the Little Rascals and "Dragon Stew," a story about a gourmet king and his cook who never does.

Rounding out the list are: "Adventures In Perception," a study of the works of the currently popular artist E.M. Esher; "The World of the Beaver," a nature film with an ecological theme and "Water Safety."

These films and projectors may be reserved by calling the A-V department 528-7039 during library hours.
